LOOKS TO MORAL SIDE OF ISSUES

Babson, Prominent Statistician, Will Support Wilson.

Says Golden Rule Being Applied By President.

LIFE-LONG REPUBLICAN

Roger W. Babson, of Boston, a life-long Republican, and a prominent statistician and financial expert, announced recently that he would vote and work for the re-election of President Wilson. "It is because Mr. Wilson seems more interested than Mr. Hughes in the moral side of such questions as banking, shipping, railroads, tariff, labor and relations with other nations, that I now intend to vote for him, in November," said Mr. Babson.

APPLIES GOLDEN RULE.
His statement in full is as follows:

"I am for Woodrow Wilson, not because he is a Democrat, for I am not a member of the Democratic party. I am for Woodrow Wilson not because of business reasons, for Mr. Hughes' policies would temporarily bring me greater profits. I am for Mr. Wilson because I believe that he has tried to apply the golden rule to solving great national and international problems. Any man, whether Republican or Democrat, who will attempt this will have my hearty support. Moreover, I believe that if this moral issue involved in the election were clearly put forth by his campaign managers, he would be sure of re-election. In most things President Wilson has already succeeded; in some things his work is incomplete; but in all cases I believe he has stood for the kindly, the humane and the Christian principles. Should he be defeated it would be a great blow to the cause of righteousness.

"NO FIRST" PATRIOTISM.
"Of course, my associates say the golden rule is all right in theory, but it is not good business; Mr. Wilson's ideas may be humane, but they are not practical. My answer simply is that that remains to be seen. Certainly the old-line methods of diplomacy and Government have not worked out very well where they have been in operation the longest time—namely, in Europe. The so-called 'me first' patriotism and the 'national honor' policy, for which some of Mr. Wilson's opponents appear to stand, are among the fundamental causes of the present European conflict. Personally, I believe that the more Christian policy for which Mr. Wilson stands will be found to be much more satisfactory. Certainly, I would like to see it tried for four years longer. Moreover, I believe that a majority of the people of this country in their hearts feel likewise.

"The Federal banking law, dividing the country into twelve equal districts, the establishment of the parcel post, the enactment of the Philippine law, the farm loan law, the shipping law, the child labor law and various other measures are distinctly humane measures in the interests of the weak rather than of the strong. On the basis of immediate results I recognize that some of the bill do not appear to be 'good business,' but I cannot help feeling in the depth of my soul that they are in the interest of the greater majority. If so, they will ultimately be of benefit to us all.

RADICAL MEASURES NEEDED.
"History shows that radical measures have been needed to save the children and the property of even the rich.
"During the past four years my business has taken me to many foreign countries. While traveling I have been especially impressed with the Ambassadors, Ministers and other foreign appointees of President Wilson whom I have met. I grant that these men may be repugnant to the old school and conservative diplomats and in their eyes may be 'unfit' but no one can criticize the character of these men.
"Every one of them whom I have met is overflowing with a desire to be of service; not to a few friends, but to all people whether rich or poor. Furthermore, I have found these men full of the vision that the only way the United States can permanently establish its influence abroad is to help other countries in their own unhampered developments. As one of these appointees said to me, 'I am not much of a linguist but I do understand the golden rule and I am trying hard to apply it in my dealings with these foreign people.'

WILL BACK THE PRESIDENT.
"Personally, I feel it my duty to back up any Administration which is working with this spirit. Furthermore, I believe that so long as this spirit is the guiding principle of the President he can be trusted in the working out of the Mexican problem, the submarine problem, the railroad problem and all other unprecedented situations with which he has had to deal.

"I am not saying anything against Mr. Hughes. His record as Governor of New York was good. When he was nominated for President, I felt that we were very fortunate in having two such good men as nominees. In common, however, with many other people, I have been very much disappointed in his recent utterances. Contrasted with Mr. Wilson's they sound distinctly selfish and narrow-minded. The future safety of this country depends, not upon building a Chinese wall about ourselves, but upon helping other nations into a position where they will not have an objective in attacking us. I believe that we can obtain security and opportunity for our own people only by the development of policies which will provide security and opportunity for other peoples. It seems to me that Mr. Wilson has the vision that no bargain is good for one nation or class that is not good for all, and that the prosperity of each of us is dependent on the prosperity of all of us. In short, it is because Mr. Wilson seems more interested than Mr. Hughes in the moral side of such questions as banking, shipping, tariff, labor and relations with other nations that I now intend to vote for him in November."

BRYANT BROS., AGENTS
MT. VERNON, KY.

Long Branch, N.J., Sept. 15 — President Wilson decided today to take advantage of the earliest possible opportunity to challenge the statement made by Charles E. Hughes in recent speeches that the basis on which the recently threatened railroad strike was averted was merely an increase of wages for the employees.

The President, his political advisers said today, considers the principles of eight hour day virtually affected by the strike settlement, and will seek to show that while the railroad legislation passed by Congress to meet the situation will give the employees at least a temporary increase in pay the most important point is that it establishes the eight-hour day as the basis of work for railroad workmen.

The President will make known his views either in speech at Shadow Lane, or in a letter. Democratic leaders expect the Republicans to continue their efforts to make the strike settlement an issue, and it was said today that Mr. Wilson will welcome such an argument.

Mr. Wilson expects to make clear that he will not be satisfied until Congress enacts into the law the rest of the railroad legislation he recommended when the strike was threatened, including an increase in the Interstate Commerce Commission and a measure for an investigation of controversies between railroads and their employers before strikes or lock-outs result.

The President already has begun the work of selecting a board to investigate the operation of the eight-hour day on railroads, although the new arrangement will not go into effect for several months. He will seek, it was said today, to appoint a board which will have the full confidence of the railroads, the employees and the public.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.
The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.
At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."
If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. We understand from a reliable source that the county will begin putting macadam on the grade between Livingston and Brodhead just as soon as the county can make arrangements for a roller crusher and water wagon. We certainly hope that it can be done for unless it is, there are places on the grade which will become impassable before the winter is over. We know Judge Ballard favors putting on the rock just as soon as possible, and from a standpoint of travel, and the extra expense of putting the grade back in condition next year it is certainly the only thing to do. We have good grade, those in charge have done splendid work and to leave the road for winter use without any metal would certainly be a serious mistake.

The property of the Kentucky Portland Cement & Coal Co., located at Pine Hill, was sold at public sale by order of the court, at the front door of the Court house in Mt. Vernon, Tuesday. The only bid was $50,000 made by J. Rodger McSherry, of Chicago, president of the Rockcastle Cement & Lime Co., an incorporation organization under the laws of the state of Delaware. As soon as the sale has been confirmed the new company will organize and begin operation at Pine Hill. Mr. W. B. Reinke, the local manager says that it will be several weeks before work starts and for the benefit of those who may seek employment with the new company, there will be nothing open until a number of matters have been adjusted and plans for the future of the new company perfected.

The store of J. B. Noe, the West Main street merchant and also his bakery were destroyed by fire last Sunday morning, about 4 o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Noe and family and J. C. Preston the baker, were sleeping on the second floor and the call was so close that after Mr. Noe assisted his wife and children down the stairs and then ran back to get his books, that he had to make his escape over the porch roof and down one of the guy wires of the electric light company. Nothing was saved but a few bed clothes which Mr. Noe threw out the window from the second floor. The loss was total as to building, stock and the bakery, which were about two-thirds covered by insurance. The building belonged to T. N. Noe and the stock was in J. B. Noe's name, yet in reality T. N. Noe and his son J. B. were partners in the business. Mr. Noe is already getting plans for a new building which will more than likely be a brick. Mr. Noe enjoyed a splendid trade, in fact we doubt if there was another store in town, that had a better trade based on the on the same size stock, than he. When asked by a Signal representative about re-establishing the bakery Mr. Noe said: "I will have to let the bakery go for the present." In commenting on that part, he expressed a desire to see some one start and assures whoever may undertake the proposition, that it will be a paying investment. At the time of the fire different contractors were figuring on a brick oven for a new and much larger bakery Mr. Noe intended to put in. But with the loss sustained, he does not feel that he will be able to put the store back and handle bakery too.

Next week will be prepared to make stove pipe to order at Mt. Vernon Monumental Works.

It is a familiar fact that a person lost in the woods wanders around in circles to the right. The reason is found in the demonstrated fact that the human race is right-handed and left-legged. That is the left leg is stronger than the right one; and the constant tendency because of the greater activity of the left leg and the longer stride taken with it, is to bear to the right. Locomotion is a continuous pedestrian match between the right leg and the left one, and the left is continually getting ahead.

It's just a waste in money matters. Our existence is a constant battle between spending and saving, and our "spend-leg" seems the stoutest and is generally in the lead. To overcome this the wise ones are handicapping their "spending member" with a Saving Account and are steering a straight course out of the forest of debt—into the civilization of peace and plenty.

Could You Get New Job at 72? This Man Did

John C. Southall, Well-Known
Merchant, Makes a Great Record!

What would be the average man's prospects of getting a new job in his seventy second year on the strength of being able to do the work of a man of forty?

Mighty slim chances, the big majority of humanity would say.

But not so with John C. Southall, coal dealer, of Fourth and Terrace avenues Dayton, Ky.

"Like the tens of thousands of others, I thought I would have to leave hard work to the younger generation when I reached the allotted three score and ten," said Mr. Southall, recently. "For more than ten years I felt this condition coming on."

"Even when well past my prime I was pretty strong and weathered many an arduous gale by sheer vigor."

"First my stomach failed me and then I seemed to contract catarrh. One of the members of my church suggested that I try Tanlac, which is almost a household word around Cincinnati and the nearby cities."

"Thankful to say, while I am only on my second bottle, anyone in Dayton will vouch for my statement when I declare that I can do as hard a day's work as any man half my age, and with no great effort."

John C. Southall is known and revered by more than half the people of Dayton, Newport, and the nearby cities. Mr. Southall is one of the oldest members, if not the pioneer attendant of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church of Dayton.

It is upon such statements as these from men and women of the highest integrity—which come in an apparently never ending chain, that the wonderful success of Tanlac has been built. They are the guarantee of its merit extraordinary.

Tanlac, the ideal reconstructive tonic, is being especially introduced in Mt. Vernon at R. H. Miller, also at Central Drug Co., Livingston, and John Robins' Drug Store, Brodhead. W. M. Owens' store, Burr, Line Bros., Crab Orchard, S. E. Welch Bera: J. Reynolds and Son, Bee Lick, where the Tanlac man explains its merits.

FORMER G.O.P. SENATOR
ANNOUNCES FOR WILSON
H. C. Hansborough Says He Favors President Because He Believes In Principles of Lincoln.

New York, Sept. 12.—Former Senator H. C. Hansborough, of North Dakota, who served eighteen years in the United States Senate as a Republican, announced Tuesday that he intends to support President Wilson for re-election. He reached this decision after hearing one of Charles E. Hughes' speeches.

"I am going to support the President as a Wilson Republican," the former Senator told National Chairman Vance C. McCormick. Former Senator Hansborough who was three times elected to the United States Senate by the Republicans of North Dakota, said that he was enroute to his home at Devil's Lake and intended to enter the campaign actively in behalf of the Democratic national ticket.

"I am for Wilson because I believe in the principles of Abraham Lincoln rather than the man who represents the special interests and privileged classes as distinguished from the true Democracy of the country," he said.

INVENTOR Comes Out For Wilson

Edison Says Chief Has Given
Nation Peace With Honor.

Not Since 1860 Has Any Campaign Made Such a Call for Real Americanism, He Asserts.

Saratoga, N. Y., September 3.—Thomas A. Edison, lifelong Republican and a strong supporter of Roosevelt's candidacy for the Republican nomination, made an announcement today of his intention to vote for Woodrow Wilson, the gave out the following statement:

"Not since 1860 has any campaign made such a direct call of Simon pure Americanism, the times are too serious to talk or think in terms of Republicanism or Democracy. Real Americans must drop parties and get down to big fundamental principles."

"More than any other President in my memory Wilson has been faced by a succession of tremendous problems, any one of which decided the way we would have had to come out of the Wilson's decisions so far have not got us in any serious trouble, and are they likely to."

"He has given us peace with honor. This talk about the United States being despised is nonsense. Neutrality is a mighty trying policy, but back of it are international law, the rights of humanity and the future of civilization."

"With reference to Mexico, I think that the President has acted wisely, justly, and courageously. It was right that the United States should not have recognized such a murderous personality as Huerta. I do not believe that we should have intervened nor do I believe that we should intervene now. Mexico is a troublesome neighbor just now, but war and conquest is not going to make her a better one. Both against England and against human slavery the United States worked out its salvation through revolution and it was a pretty slow trying process."

"It has been said that Wilson at first was against preparedness. Perhaps he was, but when convinced intelligent public opinion was overwhelmingly in favor of it, he changed. That is the proper thing for our President to do. A President defiant of public opinion, would be a dangerous man in our system of government."

"They say he has blundered. Perhaps he has. But I notice that he usually blunders forward."

HUGHES AND WILSON AGREE

The Berea (Ky.) Citizen makes a good point for Berea College in quoting the words of the two opposing candidates for President, both endorsing the educational work of this institution for the Southern mountains.

It seems both men appeared on the platform at a meeting in behalf of Berea College in Washington last winter. Berea is distinguished for its special adaptations to the needs of the mountains. Hughes made the following statement: "There is no more promising part of America, or one more in need of aid, than these Southern Highlands, and one's notions of education really have to be enlarged to comprehend all that is embraced in the splendid work of Berea."

President Wilson said: "The object of Berea is to do what America was intended to do, to give to people who have not had it an opportunity. I do not see how anybody can think of Berea and the work it is doing without catching fire."

BEREA COLLEGE OPENS SEPTEMBER THIRTEENTH.

Berea College, Berea, Ky., opens its "five doors" on Wednesday, the 13th of September: the Foundation School for those least advanced; the Vocational School for teaching Household Management, Mountain Farming, Carpentry, Nursing, Printing, etc.; the Normal for those desiring to teach; the Academy, and the College. "Something good for every corner" is the motto of this largest and oldest of mountain schools.

The number enrolled last year from Kentucky, the two Virginias, North Carolina and Tennessee was above 1,800. The expenses are about $32,000 a term, with some chances to earn money. Students earned last year some $27,000.

$100 REWARD, $50.
